Comparative Political Systems DSC-17	4	3	1	-	NA	NA

Learning Objectives

The aim of this course is to train students in the application of comparative methods to the study of different political systems with respect to institutions and their functioning in these countries from a comparative perspective. Students will be familiarised with the defining features like political tradition, state formation, constitution and division of power, structure of government, electoral system, political parties, party system, and the contemporary social and economic challenges in these societies.

Learning outcomes

This paper will provide students with a comprehensive understanding of a range of political systems from different continents in a historical context. The students will engage in studying different countries in detail with reference to their political tradition and state formation, constitution and division of power, political parties and elections, political economy and contemporary challenges. The critical analysis of different political systems will delineate the institutional structures, processes and their functioning in these systems. The course content would also help students develop analytical skills to understand not just the similarities and differences but the uniqueness of some cases as well that highlight how the matrix of diverse determinants and variables result in different discourses in different countries.

		Lecture	Tutorial	Practical/ Practice
India's Foreign Policy: Challenges and Strategies DSC 18	4	3	1	-	NA	NA

Learning Objectives

This course seeks to equip students to engage with the key sources, theoretical underpinnings, and the structural/functional dimensions of the foreign policymaking processes in India. Theoretical grounding will apprise students about the shift in India's identity as a postcolonial state to an 'emerging power' in the contemporary multipolar world. It will familiarize the students with the domestic, regional and international drivers and constraints; how these intersect and have shaped the evolution and practice of India's foreign policy. Students will learn about critical issues and developments of its foreign policy at the bilateral, regional, and global levels with a special focus on India's bargaining strategies and positioning in international climate change negotiations, international economic governance and international security regimes. It will develop analytical skills among the students to comprehend the impending foreign policy conundrums and give students a basic yet nuanced understanding of India's opportunities and challenges in its foreign policymaking in the contemporary world.

Learning outcomes

At the end of this course, the students would have acquired:

- ☞ basic knowledge of the sources, theoretical perspectives and key drivers of India's foreign policy.
- ☞ analyse the opportunities and challenges India faces in securing its interests as an emerging global power.
- ☞ an insight about India's position in changing global power equations particularly its bilateral ties with powerful nations like the US and Russia along with India's largest neighbour, China.
- ☞ an enhanced understanding of India's sub-regional, regional, and global issues of concern.

- € grasp of India's negotiation strategies in dealing with global trade, environment, and security regimes.
- € recognise the ways in which India deploys its soft power in the world.

DISCIPLINE SPECIFIC ELECTIVE COURSE – 4a: Understanding Security

CREDIT DISTRIBUTION, ELIGIBILITY AND PRE-REQUISITES OF THE COURSE

Course title & Code	Credits	Credit distribution of the course			Eligibility criteria	Pre-requisite of the course (if any)
		Lecture	Tutorial	Practical/ Practice
Understanding Security DSE-4a	4	3	1	-	NA	NA

Learning Objectives

This course is grounded in the field of security studies in international relations and, aims to provide the students a foundational understanding of the concept of security in the contemporary world. The conceptualisation of security has evolved over the past decades, encompassing diverse sectors, and incorporating referents from different levels. Students will learn about the traditional notions of security focusing on state and military as well as its individual and societal dimensions of security. In view of the fast-evolving global context, the course aims at explaining it in relation with other concepts such as power, peace and identity in international relations. The course introduces to students traditional as well as contemporary approaches to study the concept of security. Alongside the concerns of national security, the course apprises students about the emerging security issues ranging from energy security and cyber security to issues of public health. Finally, this course aims to familiarise students to the emerging non-western perspectives in the field of security studies.

Learning outcomes

By the end of the course the students would be able to:

- Develop a comprehensive understanding of the concept of security and how it relates to other key concepts such as power, peace and identity in International Relations.
- Learn about the traditional and non-traditional sectors and various levels of analysis of security
- Understand the traditional and contemporary approaches to study the concept of security
- Analyse the range of security issues and challenges in the contemporary world and nature of policy response to them
- Develop analytical skills to understand the non-western perspectives to the concept of security.

Understanding Savarkar DSE-4b	4	3	1	-	NA	NA

Learning Objectives

Vinayak Damodar Savarkar was one of the important leaders of the Indian National movement. He was a revolutionary who gradually turned to lay the foundation of Hindu Nationalism in India after release from the jail at Andaman and Nicobar. He remained at the thick of controversies due to his opposition due to his thoughts on Indian Nationalism which was essentially against Gandhian methods and approach to making national movement hostage to the whims of a particular community. His works Hindutva still continues to dominate the discourse of Indian politics wherein he is referred to by both his opponents and the supporters. He was a prolific writer both in Marathi and English. He had a clearly defined socio-political thought which he articulated through his poems, essays, stories, plays and the political speeches. It is therefore it is important to study his revolutionary journey as well his political thoughts and his position on key issues of India both before and after independence.

Learning outcomes

At the end of the course:

- The students will be able to understand his role and contribution in the freedom movement.
- They will be able to contextualise his thoughts on Hindutva and differentiate it from Hinduism.
- Students will be able to answer what impact religious conversion has on the cultural and political geography of a nation.
- They will be able to understand how he differed from Ambedkar on caste and untouchability questions and what was his response to this important question.

DISCIPLINE SPECIFIC ELECTIVE COURSE – 11: Research Methods in Politics

NOTE: 'Research Methodology' is offered as one of the DSE courses in VI and VII Semesters. Students can opt for it either in VI semester or VII semester

CREDIT DISTRIBUTION, ELIGIBILITY AND PRE-REQUISITES OF THE COURSE

Course title & Code	Credits	Credit distribution of the course			Eligibility criteria	Pre-requisite of the course (if any)
		Lecture	Tutorial	Practical/ Practice
Research Methods in Politics DSE-11	4	3	1	-	NA	NA

Learning Objectives

The course would serve as the first formal introduction to the basics of social science research in the specific context of the discipline of Political Science. As an elementary course to introduce the students to the fundamentals of research in the study of politics, the purpose of the course is twofold - first, to familiarise students with the different methodologies to study the discipline of politics; second, to walk them through the application of these methods through selected texts. By the time this course is offered, the students would be familiar with the salient analytical frameworks and arguments in the discipline. This course offers the students the opportunity to understand the methods by which these frameworks were arrived, the tools that were used to make them comprehensible, and the debates that the arguments spawned. The course is divided into three parts. The first will introduce the student to some key debates. The second takes them through the praxis of research by asking elementary questions such as, how to conceptualize a research problem, how to formulate research questions, etc. The third aims to introduce them to specific methodologies by using the strategy of reading a well-known work to discern the method used accompanied by an article that reflects upon that method.

Learning outcomes

On successful completion of the course, students would demonstrate:

- Preliminary training in basic elements of social science research
- Familiarity with how to conceptualize a research problem
- Familiarity with diverse methodologies used in the study of politics
- Skills to identify and understand the use of specific methodologies in a text
