ABOUT THE CONVENTION

New forces of global competition – in the form of agile start-ups with innovative business models, technological advances and evolving regulations have redefined the ecosystem in which business functions. Innovation is no more restricted to R&D but permeates all the managerial activities.

Rethinking of business strategy is important to align with the new scenario and to ensure that innovation adds value to all the stakeholders.

New opportunities have arisen which also pose a unique conundrum - digital paradox- for today's managers. How they deal with this paradox is an important question. As imperative it is to align the business processes with new trends such as digitization, artificial intelligence, robotics, cloud computing, equally pressing are the challenges of digital divide, cyber crimes, pathological internet use, unemployment etc. If technological innovations are the way forward, the responsibility of balancing the contrasting demands and avoiding the disruptions fall on the management

The event will congregate eminent personalities from the industry and as well as academia to have enlightening discussions on the relevant issues. This platform would combine real-life examples with business theory, providing with a great learning experience. We look forward to identifying, define, analyze and evaluate the changes transforming the future business practices.

The broad theme of the convention has been divided into following two sessions for deliberations.

- Digital Paradox: Issues and Challenges
- Leveraging Technology: Reinventing Management
